

FARMER TARIFF BILL PASSES HOUSE

DAIRY BASIS FOR FARMERS OF
WESTERN HALF OF STATE WILL BE URGED BY COUNTY AGENTS

Meeting Here Declares Future of this Section Depends Upon Dairy Cow

SUGGESTS $5000 COMPANIES

Max Morgan Urges Formation of Associations to Buy Stock in Carload Lots

A concerted effort will be made to put the western part of the state on a dairy basis as a result of the conference here of the county agents of this section of the state.

This was the major project discussed, Max Morgan, former county agent of Morton county, and now live stock specialist with the extension division of the State Agricultural College, led the discussion.

Suggest Associations.
The organizations of dairy associations was decided on as the best means of promoting the extension of dairying. This organization should have a capital of at least $5,000, Mr. Morgan said.

The organization would then buy carload or more of cattle and distribute them; the buyers paying $5 a month per cow until they are paid for.

J. W. Haw, county agent leader, urged that the men in their promotion work stress communities in which they could work to the best advantage and which could serve as a model to the counties.

Talks Sweet Clover.
As it is believed by the agricultural extension men that the development of dairying will depend much upon the increase in the growing of sweet clover and the results thus obtained, this legume had an important place on yesterday's program.

G. P. Wolf, assistant county agent leader, led in the sweet clover discussion. He discussed the method of purchasing and distributing the seed, which is being done largely through country agents, and the best system of planting and carrying for the crop.

He emphasized the importance of getting exact data as to how many head of cattle an acre will pasture, how much hay an acre will produce and the increase in acre yield in crops which follow sweet clover over crops which do not.

Mr. Helmsmeyer, delegate of this section to the Chicago marketing conference of the Committee of 17, told of that meeting. He said that the men there were very sincere and that he believed that the marketing plan would prove successful.

Max Willard, farm management specialist, urged the importance of the cost of production work which is being carried on by the agricultural college in co-operation with the State Farm Bureau Federation. He said that they would have figures available in time for computing the cost of the crop this year.

Tells of Bureau.
H. B. Fuller, secretary of the State Farm Bureau Federation, told of the rapid growth of the organization and discussed ways and means of increasing its membership.

Among the other men from the State Agricultural College present were G. W. Rundlett, director; Mrs. Metzger, farm management expert; Dr. Don McMahon, extension veterinarian; Mr. Billings, boys and girls club leader; Mrs. W. G. Cole, home demonstration leader; and Miss Eulie Church, sewing specialist.

The county agents present were Gorman, Ward; Schollader, Williams, Bredvold, Mountrill; Eastgate, Burke; Johnson, McKenzie; Russell, Golden Valley; Eastgate; Slope; Poe; Mercer; Norling; McLean; Arnold; Kipper; Sauer; Emmons; Adams; Hettlinger; Newcomer; Grant; Isle, Morton; and Danielson, Pierce.

Inb Leaders Present.
The leaders of boys' and girls' club work were present: Miss Ruth Kellogg, Hettlinger, and Miss F. A. Hunt, Grant. Two demonstration agents were also present. They were Miss Hoffman of Divide, and Miss Lewis of Williams.

The day was a busy one for the county agents. The sessions started early in the morning yesterday and did not adjourn until late last night.

STATE STREET
CAR LINE HIT
BY ROBINSON

Chief Justice Sees in it Horrible
Example of Public Owner-

CALLS FOR A REMEDY

The state street car line from the business section of Bismarck to the capital, which has been out of commission since March 4, when the legislative session ended, is held up as a "horrible example of public ownership by Justice J. E. Robinson.

Discussing the car line in his Saturday Evening Letter Justice Robinson said:

"Public ownership—what do you know of it? What of the one mile and one car street railway which has been out of commission for two months, and what of the blind caravan, fit only to carry hogs to market, used to replace the car and to carry fair lady employees to and from the capitol? On the caravan, and on the car when again put in operation, there should be painted in large letters: 'This is Public Ownership.' Where is the Governor, the Industrial Commission, the board of Administration? What are they doing? Why is there no public efficiency? Why is there no person on board to look after the affairs of the state as promptly and efficiently as corporate managers look after their own affairs?"

Justice Robinson says such a condition would not be tolerated in a privately-owned utility by the public. Urging action he says:

"In the Battle of the Nile Lord Nelson said: 'England expects every man to do his duty.' And every man did it. So in the battle of the public welfare, the commander in chief should see that every man does his duty. There should be no drifting or let alone policy. With a James J. Hill as commander of the state forces, ever man would do his duty or walk the plank. If a street car failed to run on time, he would know the reason why. Never would he think of permitting the driver of a street car to charge employees for going to and from their work. That is a penny wise and pound foolish policy, indeed. It is a small, mean, contemptible act. It is in line with the business of a pickpocket. It dishes out every one a part of his salary if he continued. I will vote for the recall."

LECTURES HERE
SUNDAY NIGHT
ON "BOLSHEVISM"

DAVID GOLDSTEIN.

An intellectual treat is said to be in store for the people of Bismarck, when David Goldstein, author, 'Knights of Columbus' lecturer and debater, delivers his address on 'Bolshevism: What It Is'—The Red Army—on Sunday night.

Everybody is invited to this gathering at the Auditorium on Sunday night. Admission to the lecture is free to the public.

Seats have been reserved for world war veterans who are at present taking a decidedly keen interest in the world's greatest problem. The lecture of Mr. Goldstein will be of special interest to them.

The Knights of Columbus announce that the distinguished lecturer's address is not a tirade against the 'reds,' but rather a constructive presentation of the subject, showing what this latest manifestation of Socialism in its brand-new Russian dress really is. Mr. Goldstein's appeal is to lovers of God and Country, to those who stand for civil law and ordered Liberty.

MINERS STRIKE
CONTINUES IN GREAT BRITAIN

Men to Remain Idle at Least Until Next Friday Under Committee Plan

SOUNDING OUT SENTIMENT

London, April 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—The sensational developments yesterday in the industrial dispute, while relieving the country of the danger of a triple strike, still leaves the nation face to face with a great coal crisis involving stoppage of work in the mines at least until next Friday.

The executive body of the miners conferred today over the breach in the triple alliance caused by the railroad men and telephone men condemning the refusal of miners to enter into new negotiations of their claims and abandoning the latter.

Disregarded by events and uncertainty of the feeling of the mine workers as a whole, the miners executive members departed for their own districts to report to local organizations.

Next Friday there will be a conference in London of miners' delegates at which it is expected the miners will decide on further action. Until then the miners will remain as they are.

Reports state that confusion and even anger prevails among the miners at the action of the other members of the triple alliance, the transport workers and the railmen. The view in London is that the split in the triple alliance will accelerate the settlement of the miners strike.

DEPOSITORS OF CLOSED BANKS
PAID IN ORDER

This is Policy Decided Upon By State Guaranty Fund
Commission

TOLLEY BANK IS FIRST

Change in Method of Making Assessments for Fund is Announced

The state guaranty fund commission, which administers the guarantee of bank deposits law, will attempt to reimburse depositors in the order of closing of the state banks in North Dakota, it was announced today, following a meeting of the board.

The Tolley State Bank will be the first bank to come under the benefits of this policy.

Unlike the procedure in the case of the failures of banks at Marmarth and Judd, which occurred before the numerous closings began last fall, the guaranty fund commission will pay off the depositors but allow the bank to be liquidated in receivership.

The Marmarth and Judd banks the commission took over the entire assets and liabilities of the banks and they are now in process of liquidation.

Probably Pay June 1
The commission expects to be able to pay off Tolley bank depositors by early summer, probably about June first. It was stated by O. E. Loftus, state examiner, that the board expects to realize about $178,000 from liquidation of the Marmarth and Judd banks, to realize $366,000 from each of two assessments on state banks, one of which was due yesterday and one of which will be due May 15, and there is some money in the fund now.

The Tolley bank deposits amounted to about $350,000.

Funds realized from the liquidation of the Tolley bank will be applied to payment of depositors.

Change in Time
The commission decided on a change in time of assessing banks. The annual payment, heretofore collected as of July 1, will be payable next October. There will be four special assessments for the fiscal year beginning with July 1. These will be in February, March, April and May of 1922. Only five assessments are permitted to be made annually under the law.

A supervisor of receivers, a position created by the last legislature, will not be appointed until after July 1, Mr. Loftus said. It was discovered that the appropriation for this office is not effective until that time, he said.

WISCONSIN AND IOWA TOWNS HIT
BY WORST BLIZZARD OF WINTER
COLORADO ALSO IN STORM'S GRIP

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 16.—Wisconsin today was experiencing the worst blizzard of the winter. The storm is general but according to reports from various sections, Milwaukee is hardest hit, the snow being approximately one foot deep here.

The local weather bureau reported that the velocity of the wind between 9 and 10 o'clock this morning was 44 miles an hour from the Northeast.

More snow was predicted for tonight, with freezing temperature.

BOATS HELD IN HARBOR
KENOSHA, Wis., April 16.—The city was hit by the worst storm since 1881 this morning, with snow 12 inches deep on the level, and drifted in many places to more than two feet.

Traffic was paralyzed in the city. Hundreds of telephone wires were down and business in the city was badly interfered with.

Early spring gardens were ruined by the snow and sleet. All boats were held in Kenosha harbor on account of the high wind on the lake.

DUBUQUE SNOW-BOUND
DUBUQUE, Ia., April 16.—Dubuque is snow-bound and struggling to extricate itself from the most severe blizzard of the winter.

ROADS TIED UP
DENVER, Col., April 16.—The Rocky Mountain region today was slowly recovering from the effect of the worst storm of the winter which yesterday brought a snow-blanket of 11 to 14 inches, blocked roads and paralyzed wire communication.

Train service to the south, annulled last night, was expected to be resumed today.

Wire service, however, was not expected to return to normal immediately because of the large number of poles torn down by the wind and weight of the snow.

Temperatures below freezing occurred last night in most parts of the state. Snow flurries were indicated today with clearing weather tomorrow.

COVERS SOUTHERN IOWA
DES MOINES, Ia., April 16.—April records were broken by the snow storm which today was sweeping over Iowa. At 10 o'clock the southern half of the state was covered by five inches of snow.

SUNSHINE IN NORTH DAKOTA

"Conditions are likely to vary," he said, and there will probably be reactions in the trend towards more prosperity but the progress should be fairly steady."

YOUNG'S BILL
BRINGS FIGHT
FROM MINORITY

Emergency Measure Designed to Protect Farmers Against Canadian Dumping

ACTION SENDS WHEAT UP

Likelihood of Measure Becoming Law Causes Sharp Rise in Wheat Prices

Chicago, April 16.—Passage of the emergency tariff bill by the national house of representatives sent all grain futures sky-rocketing at the opening of the Chicago Board of Trade today. Most strength was shown in the July position with wheat 2 1/2 cents corn a full cent, and oats a half cent higher. The market continued strong on forecasts of freezing temperature in the wheat belt and official reports showing depleted crop prospects in France and Argentina. A sharp rally at the close sent prices to the high point of the day with May practically 6 cents higher at 61.35 and July 2 1/2 cents higher at $1.08 3/4 to $1.09.

Washington, April 16.—Republican leaders, supported by all except eight of their party and by 15 Democrats, pushed the Young emergency tariff and anti-dumping bill through the house late yesterday. The vote was 289 to 112, with two members voting present. The measure was introduced by Rep. Young of North Dakota.

Passage of the measure came at the end of a stormy session during which a handful of Democrats aided by a few Republicans had harassed the leaders of the Republican side persistently for more than four hours. Charges that the Republicans bowed to the "dictation of the senate" were hurled not only by Representative Garrett, Tennessee, acting Democratic leader, but also by Representative Garrett, Tennessee, acting Democratic leader, but by two Republicans as well.

Battle Continued.
The battle was later continued when Representative Mondell, Wyoming, Republican floor leader, announced a plan for the house to meet Saturday afternoon to receive a report from the immigration committee. This was objected to by Mr. Garrett, who said the Republican members of the immigration committee had acted without first having organized their committee.

Democratic committee members had not been selected, Mr. Garrett asserted, urging that the report, said to be on the immigration restriction bill, be delayed until the Democrats have a chance to see it. After half a dozen exchanges, Mr. Mondell agreed to wait and the house adjourned until Monday.

Heated discussion marked the tariff debate which revealed a wide split in the Texas delegation. Several Louisiana members also supported the tariff program.

Democrats Vote Aye.
The discussion was particularly pointed when Representative Connolly, Democrat, Texas, chided his colleagues, Representative Hudspeth, for "deserting his party."

Besides Mr. Hudspeth, the roll call showed the following Democrats voting for the tariff: Harris, Blanton and Jones of Texas; Dupre, Farwell, Martin and Lazzaro of Louisiana; Smithwick, Georgia; Taylor, Colorado; Lee, California; Clark, Florida; Campbell, Pennsylvania; Lankford, Georgia; and Dean, Virginia.

Republicans voting against the bill included: Stanford, Wis.; Tinkham, Massachusetts; Perlmutter, Volk, Ryan and Siegel of New York; Luce, Massachusetts; and Keller, Michigan.

Follows Senate Orders.
Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee, precipitated the charges of senate dictation when he declared the senate would accept no changes in the bill as it was passed last session, not so much as a crossing of a 't' or the dotting of an 'i'.

"These are instructions," he added. "Mr. Newton, who had the floor, retorted that he would not 'surrender judgment and intellect both' on the question in which he felt he was right. "Senate orders notwithstanding." "I don't propose to have the house accept the dictation of the other body," he exclaimed.

Tries to Smooth Waters.
Representative Mann, Republican, Illinois, attempted to smooth the troubled waters, but the Democrats kept up a running fire of wit and sarcasm during the rest of the debate.

Mr. Fordney's earlier declaration that no amendments could be attached was followed by the Republicans who downed every attempt to make changes. Republicans who sought to amend the bill were disposed with the same courtesy as Democrats, and the bill now goes to the senate.

The bill as passed by the house is practically identical with the Fordney measure selected in the last Congress. President Wilson. Protection will be given a number of agricultural products including wheat, cotton, wool, corn, cattle and sheep.

The bill will be operative for six months instead of the 10 provided in the Fordney measure.

The anti-dumping provisions, not included in the Fordney measure, will be operative for six months.

Action

Mandamus proceedings to compel the state auditor to issue warrants for money from the school land funds to take up bond issues the board of university and school lands has agreed to take up, are contemplated, according to information reaching the state department of education from several towns and villages.

It is said that $405,000 in the Bank of North Dakota to the credit of the school land fund had been pledged to take up bond issues for the building of school houses. In some cities schools have been built and the districts are unable to get warrants from the auditor for their money.

Several school officials of the state have written the department of education protesting that the $225,000 state aid for rural, graded and consolidated schools for the school year ending June 1920, has not been paid. The money was set aside by Auditor Kostitzky and is in the Bank of North Dakota, according to the educational department.

SUES TO FORCE STATE BANK TO PAY FARM LOAN

Soren Nelson, through Dickinson Attorneys, Begins Action Here

CLAIMS LOAN APPROVED

Suit to force the Bank of North Dakota to keep an alleged farm loan agreement has been instituted in the Durlough county court by Soren M. Nelson, through Attorneys Crawford and Burnett, of Dickinson.

The plaintiff charges that the Bank of North Dakota agreed to make a farm loan to him, that all the necessary arrangements were made, including his giving a mortgage, but that the loan has not been forthcoming.

Other Banks Named.
Included with the Bank of North Dakota in the garnishment action stated in connection with the claim are the Bank of North Dakota, the Merchants State Bank of Werner, the First National Bank of Killdeer and the First State Bank of Grassy Butte.

The plaintiff says that he made application for a farm loan "which application was received by said bank, and said bank had its examiner examine the land and approve the loan on said land in the amount asked for by this plaintiff and so advised the plaintiff of the granting of said loan."

Loan For $3,700.
The loan was for $3,700, Mr. Nelson alleges.

In May, 1920, he said, he executed notes for the $3,700 in proper form, and executed a mortgage on his land, had the same duly recorded before delivery and duly furnish an abstract showing a clear title in the plaintiff "which papers were duly delivered to the bank."

He further alleges: "That notwithstanding the fact that said papers were executed by plaintiff and accepted by the Bank of North Dakota, that said bank has failed and refused to deliver the $3,700 to the plaintiff," and that he has demanded the money and has been refused.

He says that "the plaintiff has fully performed all the conditions required by said bank upon his contract to be performed, but the bank has failed and neglected to perform the conditions of their agreement as to granting said loan, in their failing to remit the said plaintiff the said sum of $3,700 as agreed by them as heretofore stated."

HARVEY WAS FIRST THE ENVOY AND THEN THE CAUSTIC PEN OF WILSON.

By Newspaper Enterprise.
NEW YORK, April 15.—"Col" Geo. Harvey, recently named ambassador to Great Britain, comes, like President Harding, who appointed him, from the ranks of journalists. He has been widely known as both editor and publisher.

His general interest and writings have leaped to governmental, national and international affairs. Harvey broke into the newspaper game as a reporter for the Springfield, Mass., Republican and in the next four years served in the same capacity on the Chicago News and the New York World.

In 1900 he became insurance commissioner of New Jersey, but a year later was managing editor of the New York World. He held this position for three years and then became contractor and president of various electrical railroads.

His literary venture as a journalist came in 1898 when he purchased and was editor of the North American Review. In the years that followed he was president of Harper and Brothers, editor of Harper's Weekly, owner of the Metropolitan Magazine and publisher of Harvey's Weekly.

It was through his magazines that Harvey launched the Wilson-for-president boom in 1906. And it was J. P. Morgan's interest in Harper and Brothers, of which Harvey was president,

"COW BILL" NOT UTILIZED YET BY ANY COUNTY

The "cow bill" passed by the special session of the 1919 legislature is thus far a useless measure on the statute books.

To date no counties have taken advantage of the law permitting bonds to be sold for the purchase of cattle. One county decided to adopt the plan and proceeded as far as the sale of bonds and then discarded the proposition.

The state department of agriculture and labor is endeavoring to interest counties issuing bonds under the authority of the law.

The exhibition of physical training given in the high school gymnasium last night by more than half the boys and girls of the high school was applauded by a crowd which filled the gymnasium. The numbers which evoked most enthusiasm were the dancing of the girls and the jump jack number.

BONDS MUST BE O. K.'D BY STATE OFFICE IS RULE

Attorney-General's Office Holds That Depository Bonds Must be Approved

Treasurers of public corporations, after having depository bonds made out on the form supplied by the Attorney-General must send them to the Attorney-General's office for approval, according to a ruling announced from that office.

Some treasurers apparently have not applied this interpretation to the new depository law, as not a large number of bonds have been sent to the Attorney-General's office. The law says that "said bond shall be in conformity to a form prescribed by the Attorney-General and the amount and sufficiency by the board or governing body of such corporations." Some treasurers have held that the law regarding form is satisfied in the drawing up of the form by the Attorney-General. The Attorney-General's office holds that it is the duty of that office to see that the forms are properly filled out.

Depository bonds of the city of Bismarck have been approved by the Attorney-General's office, except in one instance, it was announced today. In this one case, it was said, the form contained some defects.

ELKS ENTHUSE OVER CONCERT OF THE BAND

Vote to Enter Wholeheartedly
Into Ticket Selling Campaign

An enthusiastic effort to attract a full house to the Elks city band concert, to be given at the Auditorium Friday night, April 22, is to be made. Members of the Elks who attended the lodge meeting last night voted to enter into the campaign to make the affair the largest yet held.

The band will give the best concert it has ever given, the lodge members were promised, and the tickets will be reduced to pre-war prices. The band has been rehearsing steadily and will play its concert numbers at a concert at the penitentiary Sunday night.

John George, Jack Oberg and Al Brink were named as a traveling men's committee to sell tickets today and tomorrow. The ticket sale Monday and Tuesday will be in charge of Robert Webb. Tickets will be reserved Wednesday at Harris and company.

A special drive is to be made to get each business house to take as many tickets as there are employees in the concern.

Spencer, Boise, director, announced that C. L. Coddington, of Wilton, will be the violin soloist for the concert.

The proceeds of the band go toward the payment of band expenses.

TO STOP DISH LOSSES.
Dishes on which rakes or other food is taken to church parties or other social affairs often become misplaced or lost. Write your name on a piece of adhesive tape and paste this on the bottom. It can't be easily washed off.

FEW BUTTONS NEEDED.
Models for fall call for few buttons. Of those that will be used, fancy ivory ones for suits are popular.

SIMPLE HOLDERS.
Slip a few sheets of paper into a cloth bag and make a pad of them. This makes an ideal holder for hot dishes as the heat does not penetrate the papers as it will cloth.

HOLDS TWO LEGION OFFICES

Winchester, Va., Man Is State Historian as Well as Chairman of Americanism Commission.

R. M. Roszel of Winchester, Va., has been entrusted with two offices by the Virginia department of the American Legion. He is state historian as well as chairman of the Department's Americanism Commission. He also serves as historian of his post.

Born in Baltimore, Md., Mr. Roszel was educated in the schools of his state and received the A. B. and Ph. D. degrees from Johns Hopkins University. Afterwards he was a fellow in astronomy and an instructor in mathematics in that institution, and later a teacher of physics, mathematics and chemistry in the Washington high school system, Washington, D. C. From 1903 to 1908 Mr. Roszel was head master of the Seawanee Grammar School, in charge of the preparatory department of the University of the South. Since 1908 he has been superintendent of the Shenandoah Valley Academy, a military school at Winchester, Va.

Mr. Roszel served eighteen months in this country and overseas in the Army and was discharged a major. He has since accepted a similar commission in the Reserve Corps.

TRAVEL PICTURES FOR POSTS

Films Embracing One Thousand Topics, for Use of All Legion Organizations.

By arrangement between the American Legion and the bureau of commercial economics, the most complete and valuable collection of educational and travel motion picture films in existence will be placed at the disposal of the Legion for free exhibition under the auspices of all posts. The films, which embrace 1,000 separate topics, are the property of the bureau, an altruistic institution the sole aim of which is to advance education and pride in American institutions.

At the instance of national headquarters, the bureau has prepared a special catalogue in which each film is numbered and described. A copy of this catalogue will become the property of each Legion post. The only expense attached to posts ordering the films will be the payment of express charges to and from the nearest distributing center of the bureau. No admission fee may be charged by the post.

A distributing center for the films will be established in almost every state. Responsibility for the transmission of the catalogues and the information concerning the location of distributing centers to which each post must apply for films, rests with the state departments.

The story of the establishment of the bureau of commercial economics is that of a fulfillment of a vow which a blind man took years ago, should his sight be restored. Dr. Francis Holey, the founder and director of the bureau, vowed to work for the betterment of mankind when he recovered his sight, and the bureau is the result.

LEGION IS HIS MIDDLE NAME

Adjutant and Americanism Director of Chicago Post First to Name Himself After Organization.

"Every American ought to have an American name," said Jacob Telnowitz, adjutant and Americanism director of Chicago Post No. 161 of the American Legion in Chicago, at a post meeting.

"To prove that I stand up for my convictions, I have changed my name to Jacob Legion Tenny."

Tenny said that there should be a law establishing an American standard of nomenclature and that, in the meantime, it is up to members of the American Legion to set the fashion.

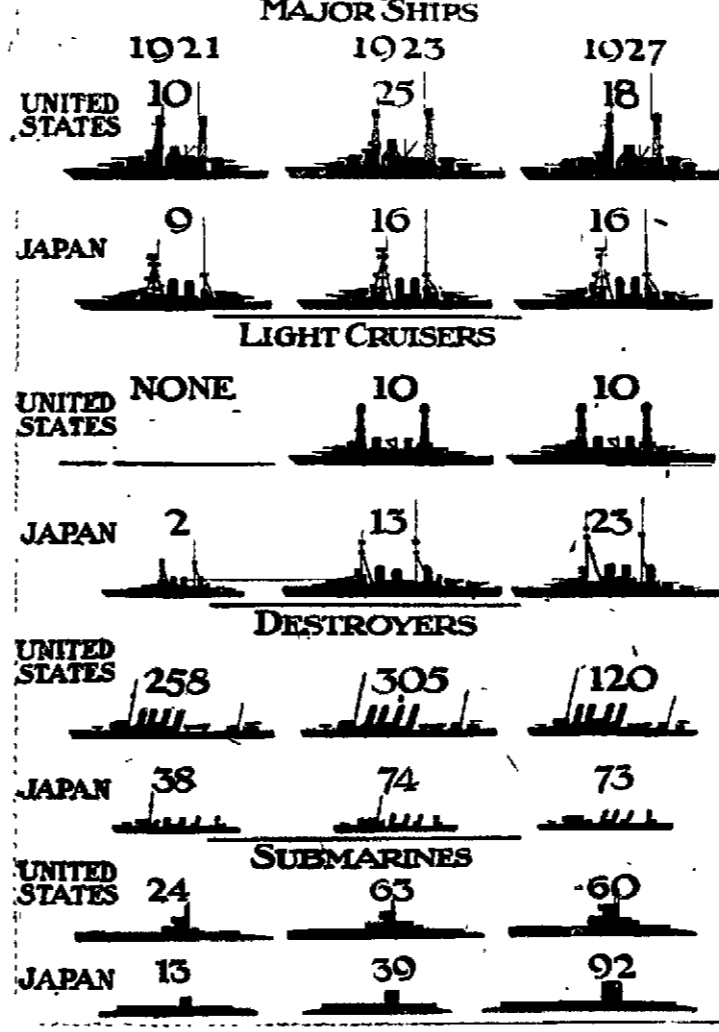

"Telnowitz is a grand old name, but Tenny will be easier to pronounce," said Tenny. "I'm retaining my first name, Jacob, of course, but I'm adding Legion as a brand new middle name. So far as I know, I'm the first man who has named himself after the American Legion. There couldn't be any better name for a he-man son of an American enlisted man than Legion."

Tenny enlisted with the first contingent of eighteen men from the West side of Chicago and served overseas. He is a lawyer and at the last primary election was a Democratic candidate for municipal judge.

JAPAN IS ARMING TO HOLD ASIA HOW NAVIES COMPARE

This Diagram Shows Comparative Strength of the Japanese and American Navies on the Basis of Present Building Programs.

William Philip Simms, whose work as correspondent during the World War and the Peace Conference won him world-wide fame, is now in Japan studying the Japanese-American problem. In view of the situation between Japan and the United States, his articles are the most important contribution being made to public information.

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

(Written Expressly for The Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
Tokyo, April 16.—As nearly as I am able to determine, Japan's intentions internationally speaking, are: First, to fix upon a definite Asiatic policy, with particular reference to her position in Manchuria, Mongolia and China proper; then—

Second, to sit tight behind a navy of quite respectable strength as one Japanese official put it, and proceed to carry that policy out.

Who Japan's potential enemy is, is perfectly apparent in her own mind. England is her ally; Russia and China are both down and out and will continue to be so for an indefinite period to come. Obviously she considers she has only the United States to fear and it can be against the United States only that she is increasing her armaments.

Japan is openly out to keep her place in the sun of industrial prosperity, and Asia she feels to be her legitimate sphere. Her future, beyond the slightest doubt, depends on the development of her trade, and to a large extent this trade depends upon her position in China and elsewhere on the continents of Asia.

America, many here in Japan believe—whether rightly or wrongly—makes no difference for the moment—has constantly crossed her path in recent years, opposing Japanese plans. Looking ahead, they fear America may oppose Japan in Asia, particularly in China.

So it is that Japan's building program, as outlined by the "Jiji's" naval expert, was frankly analyzed in opposition to that of the United States instead of as against that of any other country.

Eight, Eight and Eight.
Japan's program, spoken of commonly as the "Eight and Eight"—meaning eight dreadnaughts and eight battle cruisers always in the first line—really ought to be called—and was in the beginning—the "eight-eight-and-eight." Otherwise eight dreadnaughts and eight battle cruisers, none more than eight years old.

Naval experts will see the difference at once. Under the "Eight and Eight" the same vessels might do first line service for 15 or 20 years and be ready for the scrap heap when finally taken out. The three-eight schedule means constant replacements with brand-new ships in the "First Line" while the ships more than eight years old go back into "Second Line," where they would be almost as good as new.

In the United States from 12 to 14 years is considered the useful life of a battleship in the "First Line," from 20 to 25 per cent longer than the Japanese eight-eight-eight program allows.

Size Unlimited.
Another point generally overlooked is that the new ships may be of any size and speed, and of any number and caliber of guns.

Furthermore—and this is considered the most important point of all—those who foresee Japan forcing her adversaries to fight her on her own ground, or close to home, the auxiliary ships are to be "in production" in other words may be as numerous as desired and of whatever style deemed most advantageous.

Destroyers, submarines and such vessels may be turned out to the capacity of the yards under the existing program—a big advantage in the event Japan should wish to bar the way to Asia by closing the gaps between the islands stretching from Kamchatka to South China.

USE BIRDSHOT FOR HICCOUGH

Wilson Suggests Cure for Disagreeable Malady to Acting Secretary Davis.

Washington, D. C.—President Wilson was known as "doctor" at Princeton, but he has appeared in the role of a physician during the past week. It was learned here.

Acting Secretary of State Davis was suffering from hiccoughs. The President wrote him a note stating that a Canadian cook had once presented two tablespoons of birdshot as a cure for the hiccoughs. The cure worked on the theory that the liver "clapped" up and down and caused the hiccoughs and that the birdshot would weight the liver down the President stated.

A small quantity of birdshot accompanied the President's note to Mr. Davis.

Secretary Davis thought the prescription a good joke.

Good manners are mainly system in society. In a large sense the whole human race is society. We cannot it good practice to keep to the right, and those who keep to the left are guilty of bad manners as well as bad practice. Good manners is good system in behavior. System is always better saying, and we need to look to our manners in this modern day for that reason.

WOMEN GETTING TALLER

American young women average more than an inch taller than women of the same age 30 years ago. This is discovered by Dr. Cecil Duet Moshier, medical adviser at Leland Stanford University, who has checked up the measurements of girl students for three decades back.

Women are also getting heavier, says Dr. Moshier. She attributes the change in feminine physique to more sensible clothing and exercise, particularly participation in sports.

London scientists say that English women in the last half century increased their height an average of three inches, and that their shoulders have begun to broaden.

On the other hand, say the scientists, English men of the next few generations will decline in stature as a result of heavy war losses among the best physical types.

The world has gone on wheels. This, in the long run, is bound to weaken and probably shorten the human legs. Our whole mode of life is changing so radically that the human being of 100 years hence may be startlingly different.

For nature changes all living things as changing environments require it. The giraffe got its long neck by constantly stretching up to munch tender tree-top leaves. The rhinoceros was given a tough hide when it became necessary to protect him against a sudden period of poisonous insect life. The fish in Mammoth Cave, no longer needing sight, have lost their power to see.

Nature is economical. She never carries spare tires. She gives us what we need—and, when it is no longer needed, takes it away.

Dean Mary Potter of Northwestern has learned what most men long knew—"U. S. A. girls are O. K."

DIPLOMACY AND 26 BROADWAY

The British and American governments are arguing rather violently about whether or not Americans will be allowed to share in exploiting the oil fields of Mesopotamia, which Britain rules by mandate.

This row is just a preliminary skirmish in a great trade war that will decide this question: "Is the United States going to lose its leadership in the world's oil industry?"

Last year 64 per cent of the world's oil came from American wells. But the Geological Survey warns that our oil resources are 40 per cent exhausted and that it may be only a few decades until we shall be largely dependent on other countries.

British oil men are boasting that within 10 years England will control the world's oil supply and that Americans will have to import British oil to the tune of $1,000,000,000 a year.

First battle in the oil war centers in Mesopotamia.

Oil concessions there were granted to a Turkish syndicate before the war. These concessions were transferred to the British Petroleum Co.—whether during or since the war, is a disputed question.

Britain's mandate specifies that there shall be no discrimination in Mesopotamia against individuals or corporations of any country which is a member of the league of nations.

This, Britain contends, does not apply to the United States, which is not a league member. She also contends that the league has no jurisdiction over the concessions which she claims she acquired before the peace conference. Britain says anyone can prospect for oil in Mesopotamia if he respects present British holdings there.

But the United States demands that every country have equal commercial rights in Mesopotamia. Meantime, American oil interests demand that Britain respect oil concessions in Palestine granted to Americans before the war.

By the San Remo agreement of 1920, England and France banded together to exploit Mesopotamian oil. France to get 25 per cent, the natives 20 per cent, England the rest.

The British government's policy is to prohibit aliens from owning oil lands, refineries or oil securities in her empire. She points out that all but Americans are excluded from drilling for oil in the Philippines. She is very quiet about the great oil holdings owned by British interests in the United States.

In addition to Mesopotamia, Britain is reaching out for control of the rich oil lands of Persia, Asia Minor, South America, Ukraine, etc.

Thus, with customary British foresight, she lays her traps for the day when American oil fields may be exhausted and Mexico's oil wells ruined by the flood of salt water already showing up in the Tampico district.

In transportation, oil is becoming increasingly vital. Automobiles must have it. Railroads may shortly burn oil instead of coal. Sixteen out of every 100 of the world's ships are fueled by oil, and the percentage is constantly increasing.

The country that controls the world's oil supply may soon control the world's merchant marine. Therein is England's special interest, in addition to wanting to free herself of Standard Oil, 26 Broadway, New York.

ONE BENEFIT, ANYHOW

It appears, from various authoritative sources, that the English caste system received its death blow during the war. The aristocracy, the middle-class and the servant class no longer exist as arbitrary distinctions.

In the chaos of war, they were all drawn in together and when it was over they had become so mixed up, so used to rubbing elbows, that the old artificial barriers between man and man crumbled away.

Curiously enough, no one seems to give a whoop. They are quite happy over it.

And in England—a country where centuries of tradition had developed a rather rigid social system!

We remember Sir James Barrie's delicate satire upon the class consciousness of English servants. Shipwrecked with his master and his master's friends on an island, the butler, being the only one of the party ingenious enough to provide shelter, clothing and food, became a virtual dictator, commanding obedience and respect from all. But when they were rescued, he reverted at once to his habitual deference and servility to his "superiors" and, indeed, could not be argued out of it.

We wonder how this news from England is going to be taken by certain people in this country. People who have aped English social customs and manners and have parroted the English accent.

It has always been a little absurd and ridiculous, this sedulous imitation of the English aristocratic attitude, gestures, and drawl, this attiring of servants in uniforms from English models, this eager attempt to forget the by no means disgraceful truth that one's father measured out groceries from behind a counter or that one's grandfather plowed his own land, or that one's husband began life as an office boy. It has ruined whatever we might have had of originality in our social life.

And it justly merited the English sneers at our "aristocrats" as "boobers" and "vulgarians."

Perhaps this copying will go a little further. Perhaps our very exclusive sets, seeing the collapse of the English absurdity, will suddenly set about the voluntary collapse of their weak imitation. Just to be in the swim.

Mexico appoints envoy to Russia. They'll have fine times discussing styles in revolutions.

Hat checker says he wouldn't mind prohibition if it hadn't taken all the quarters out of circulation.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

SIGNS OF PROMISE IN MEXICO

D. J. Haff, a leading citizen of Kansas City, who has spent years in Mexico and is a recognized authority on Mexican affairs, reports that conditions there were never brighter. Mexico's chances of entering on a period of prosperity increase with President Obregon's growing strength.

Alvaro Obregon, soldier and politician, is giving evidence of statesmanlike qualities, Mr. Haff tells us. He is undertaking what promises to be constructive and permanent reforms. In the process he is showing a creditable regard for public opinion, an unusual attitude on the part of a Mexican leader in recent years.

Laws have been passed with a view to encouraging modern methods in agriculture. The great estates are being divided up, but such division is not confiscatory. It provides for compensation through installment methods of payment. The new colonization laws aim to attract the best type of self-supporting colonists. In this agrarian program consideration is given to the interest of the middle and working classes as never before in Mexico.

Mexico has turned to a gold and silver currency basis, and the old paper money is being retired as rapidly as possible. The government has recently made settlement with the big banks retired under the Carranza regime. Larger banks are now opening, while for the first time in years the treasury shows large receipts from disbursements.

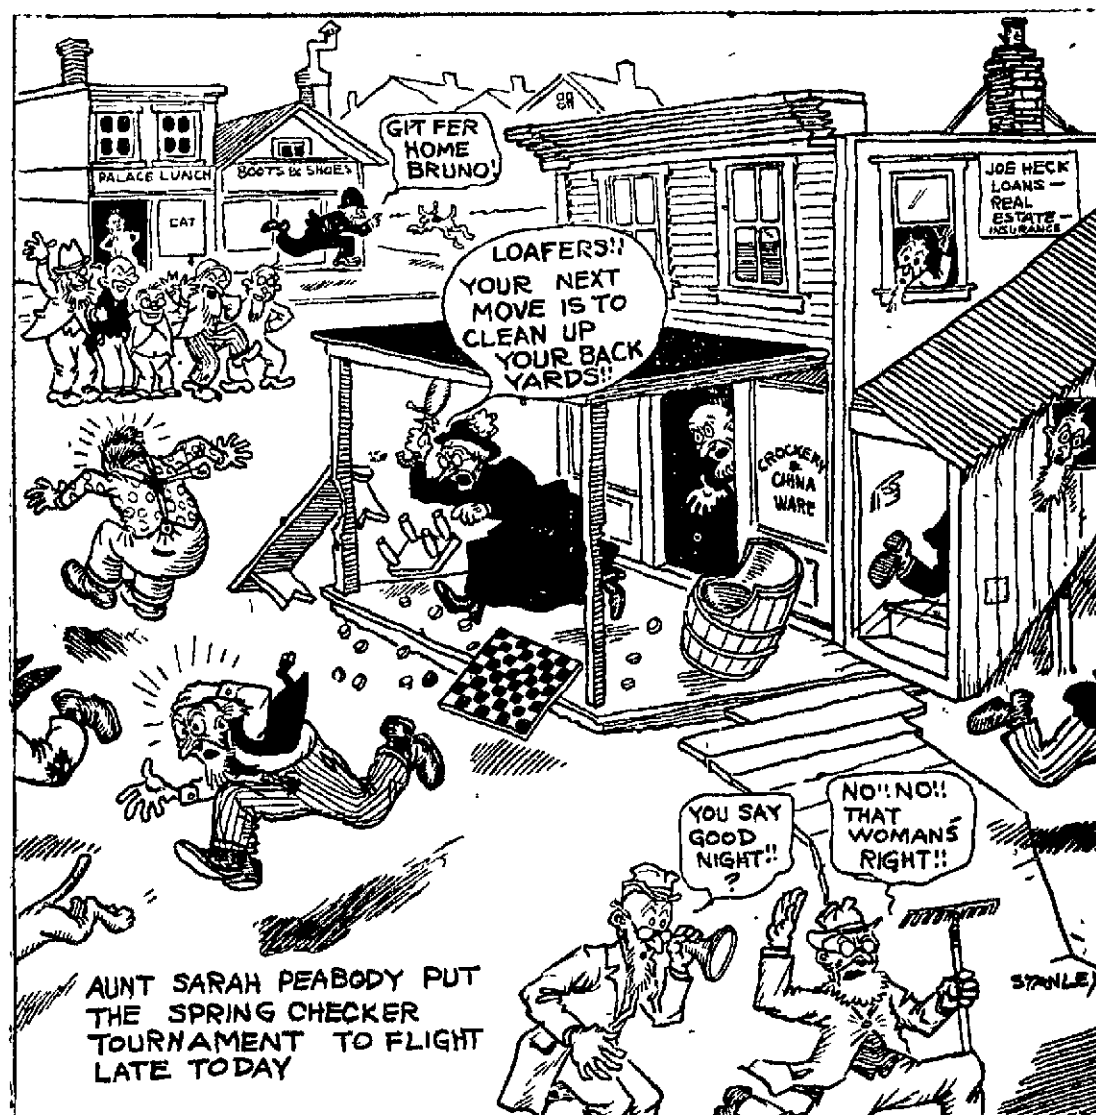

Altogether things seem to be looking up in Mexico. Our southern neighbors, roads, schools, railroads, a better land, a firm and above all economic stability through law and order. It is, of course, too early to tell just how effective will be the reforms initiated under Obregon, but they give good promise, and the future seems to rest with him.

Few doubt that Mexico can be made a great and contented country under a wise political and economic regime. If Obregon can put her in a way to develop herself through ordered government and wise economy, he will render an inestimable service not only to his own people, but to the United States and the world at large. —Minneapolis Journal.

SIT STEADY IN THE BOAT

It Will All "Come Out in the Wash" Despite the Loud Noise of Calamity Howlers, Says Writer, Who Pleads for Steady Hands in the Present Crisis.

By Dennis Powell.

The thing to do, and the only thing to do, in the present crisis of declining prices is to sit steady in the boat. No matter how the wind may blow, how the calamity howlers may howl, and the boat may rock, just sit steady in the boat. It will all come out in the wash.

If there had never been such calamities before, we might have cause for alarm; but history is full of such happenings. We all remember the prices of 1900, 1907 and 1914 when cotton was so cheap—so utterly worthless as we may say—when there was so much talk about the "buy a bale movement." We all lived through that, and as we lived through that crisis we shall survive the present one. A few, however, are scared half to death and are saying that we never had such a time before in all history. That is not true. History only repeats itself. What happens once in history is to come again in similar form, if not in the original. Life is full of ups and downs. History is full of wars and every war has its period of reconstruction; its reaction, its rise and fall in prices. We are now in the troughs of this reconstruction era following the biggest war in history. The thing was inevitable. There was no getting around it.

Prices go up and prices come down. They don't stay up and they don't stay down. There is no general level for prices. And we were an extravagant lot when money was plentiful and prices were going higher. Every one was racing to see who could buy the high priced goods. Now we are sick of this extravagance; sick in body, our purse is empty and we need a doctor. And the doctor that every one is calling in is old Doc. Conservation, and he is no mean doctor at that.

A great many farmers in the south are leaving the farms and going to the oil fields and other public works saying that they can't make a living on the farm any longer. A number of these men are actually leaving acres and acres of unbroken cotton in the fields—great snow-banks of it—just turning it over to the landlord or the men they owe, saying: "Come and get it; we can't make anything by gathering it."

That is not the proper thing to do. It is not the honorable thing to do. It is not giving the landlord or the men who furnished the land a square deal. It is putting their own honor to a test. And the man who does this is doing himself more harm than the man to whom he thinks he is dealing the misery, so to speak. It will do no good to leave the farm and come back to it later. Why leave a thing in the pinch of the game? Didn't it make you sore to see one of your best players quit the game, in a fit of anger, just when your high school basketball team was hard up for a run?

The world has no use for a quitter. You'll have to stick if you expect to win the game. If you expect to make a success at your trade, or profession, you must stick to that one occupation through thick and thin. No matter what calamity may befall you, stick. If you are a farmer, watch your corners and—stick; if you are a business man, the same to you. Just sit steady in the boat, or as steady as you can, and the storm will pass away soon.

MACSWINEY KIN WILL SPEAK ON IRISH QUESTION

Peter Golden

Peter Golden, cousin of Terrence MacSwiney, late mayor of Cork will speak here, Monday evening, May 2. This was the advice received here yesterday from Matthew O'Connor Ford, national organizer, who is arranging Mr. Golden's itinerary in North Dakota. Local committees are preparing for the event. Mr. Golden has completed a tour of Nebraska and is now speaking for the Irish Republican Cause in Oklahoma. Adding eloquence to years of knowledge concerning Ireland, his meetings have been everywhere most successful. It is reported: Being kin to Terrence MacSwiney, he has upon the death of the late Mayor of Cork taken up the fight with renewed vigor.

The meeting will be open to women and men of all races who seek information about the Irish struggle or wish to express sympathy with it. It is hoped to have the meeting initiate this city's part in the movement by the later organization here of a Council of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. State offices have been opened at Fargo. The Association proposes to gain recognition from the United States government for the Irish Republic, without military intervention. Mr. Golden will arrive here from Minot and will continue on to the larger cities of the state. The committee is securing an auditorium.

GANDER ESCORTS BLIND OX

Sympathetic Bird "Honks" Friend to Plead from Field and "Honks" Him Back.

Greensboro, Ala.—A queer tale of the extraordinary friendship existing between a gander and a blind ox on the farm of Braxton Holcroft, in the southern end of the county, was brought here.

Each day, so the story goes, a stately gander, with his breast full of sympathy and his head full of responsibility, leads an aged and totally blind ox to a nearby pond for water.

The gander, walking just in front, quacks now and then in order that the sightless ox may follow and when the pond is reached the gander stands guard, while his protégé drinks his fill. When the ox has finished drinking, the gander leads him back to the field.

OH, SHUN THE MAN WHO RUBS IT IN, ABOUT THE NOBLE GUNGA DIN!

Next, Children, in our little List, we find the Elocutionist. Both Sexes suffer from the Blight of Personages who Recite, and feel no Party is complete until they've risen to their Feet and whitcomb-rileyed for a While in what they think is Hoosier Style. And furthermore, what would they do if it were not for Dan McGrew, and Lasca, by the Rio Grande! Each one has been a Helping Hand to Elocutors as a Class. Nor may we let the Subject pass without a Reference to "Jim"; you know they're always bidding him "Good-by" in Heavy Dialect. Nor—can you possibly expect to realize a Getaway until they've had their little Say anent that Hindu, Gunga Din. And when they start to rub it in that "You're a better Man than I," one longs to holler, "THAT'S NO Lie!"

"WAIT TILL YOU COME TO FORTY YEAR"

By Berton Braley

By the record I am forty, it is very plainly writ And it's useless to deny it or to get away from it; Yet my gayness flouts my grayness (and I'm not so very gray) And I still can measure pleasure in a careless, youthful way. Of my joints there are a couple not so supple as they were And my hinges give me twinges, though but seldom, I aver; None the less I view existence like an adolescent pup I am still a boy inside me and I swear I won't grow up!

What though debutantes consider I'm a relic of the past, Or by youthful critics truthful with the Hasbeens I am classed, What though clothes however trimly, slimly tailored, grimly show That my salad days are over by a score of years or so? Still I find a braver savor in the folly and the fun And the joy of life about me than I did at twenty-one; And if jolly laughter's folly meant entirely for the young I shall be a fool of twenty till the day that I am hung!

By the record I am forty—and the record is exact But my unregenerate spirit mocks the cold statistic fact, For I still will challenge censure at Adventure's finger-crook, Or, with preamble, gamble, as I leap before I look! So although you won't believe it, or receive it with a grin, I insist I can't be forty till I feel that way within. Say I'm lying that I'm trying to forget how years depart— But I'm damned if I'll be forty while I'm twenty in my heart! (Copyright 1921, by Newspaper Enterprise Association)
